Bottom-Up Fundamental Analysis

Team to screen for issuers that meet the investment team's fundamental tests of creditworthiness

Team favors those issuers with attractive return potential from a combination of price improvement and yield through solid coverage of debt service and a priority lien on hard assets, dedicated revenue streams or tax resources

Strategic inputs include:

- Credit analysis
- Security structure
- Sector analysis
- Yield curve positioning

Portfolio Construction

Team seeks to invest in a large number of sectors, states and specific issuers in order to help create a diversified portfolio and help mitigate the portfolio from events that may affect any individual industry, geographic location or credit

Team seeks to limit exposure to individual credits, mitigate interest rate risk, and maximize overall call protection

Portfolio assessment considerations:

- Position sizing
- Performance and attribution analysis
- Duration management
- Leverage analysis

Sell Discipline

Team may sell a security if, among other factors, it:

- Determines a security is overvalued
- Detects credit deterioration
- Modifies its portfolio strategy, such as sector or state allocations

Team may also sell a security when it exceeds the portfolio's diversification targets

1. All or a portion of the exempt-interest dividends may be taken into account in determining the alternative minimum tax on shareholders who are individuals.

2. Shareholders that are generally exempt from US federal income tax, such as shareholders investing through tax qualified accounts and nonresident aliens or foreign entities, will not gain additional tax benefit from the exempt-interest dividends that are expected to be paid by the Fund or gain any other tax benefit. Because the Fund's pre-tax returns generally will be lower than those of funds that own taxable debt instruments of comparable quality, an investment in the Fund may not be suitable investment for those kinds of investors.

These are among factors to be considered when deciding whether to sell, this is not a comprehensive list.

A debt instrument's "duration" is a way of measuring a debt instrument's sensitivity to a potential change in interest rates.

Risk Disclosures

All investments involve the risk of loss of principal.

Diversification does not guarantee investment returns and does not eliminate the risk of loss.

The Fund's investment in bonds is subject to interest-rate risk and can lose principal value when interest rates rise, while they typically increase their principal values when interest rates decline. Bonds are also subject to credit risk, in which the bond issuer may fail to pay interest and principal in a timely manner, or that negative perception of the issuer's ability to make such payments may cause the price of that bond to decline.

Municipal bonds are subject to credit risk, interest rate risk, liquidity risk, and call risk. However, the obligations of some municipal issuers may not be enforceable through the exercise of traditional creditors' rights. The reorganization under federal bankruptcy laws of a municipal bond issuer may result in the bonds being cancelled without payment or repaid only in part, or in delays in collecting principal and interest.

The Fund invests in high yield, fixed income securities that, at the time of purchase, are non-investment grade. High yield, lower rated securities involve greater price volatility and present greater risks than high rated fixed income securities. High yield securities are rated lower than investment-grade securities because there is a greater possibility that the issuer may be unable to make interest and principal payments on those securities. High yield securities involve greater risk than higher rated securities and portfolios that invest in them may be subject to greater levels of credit and liquidity risk than portfolios that do not.

The Fund's investments in municipal securities rely on the opinion of the issuer's bond counsel and, in the case of derivative securities, sponsor's counsel, that the interest paid on those securities will not be subject to federal income tax. Tax opinions are generally provided at the time the municipal security is initially issued, and neither the Fund nor the Adviser will independently review the bases for those tax opinions. However, tax opinions are not binding on the Internal Revenue Service, and if any of those tax opinions are ultimately determined to be incorrect or if events occur after the security is acquired that impact the security's tax-exempt status, the Fund and its shareholders could be subject to substantial tax liability for the current or past years and shareholders may have to file amended tax returns and pay additional taxes, interest and penalties. In addition, an Internal Revenue Service assertion of taxability may impair the liquidity and the fair market value of the securities.

S&P Municipal Bond Index (Gross/Total) measures the performance of fixed-rate tax-free bonds subject to the alternative minimum tax, including bonds of all quality and from all sectors of the municipal bond market. A total-return index tracks price changes and reinvestment of distribution income.
