Risks

All investments involve the risk of loss of principal.

There are risks associated with investing in securities of foreign countries, such as erratic market conditions, economic and political instability and fluctuations in currency exchange rates. These risks may be more pronounced with respect to investments in emerging markets.

Investment in gold and gold-related investments present certain risks, and returns on gold related investments have traditionally been more volatile than investments in broader equity or debt markets.

The principal risk of investing in value stocks is that the price of the security may not approach its anticipated value or may decline in value.

Active share is the percentage of a portfolio's holdings that deviate from its benchmark index. Alpha measures the risk-adjusted return of an investment relative to its benchmark index. Beta is a measure of an investment's price volatility relative to that of the overall market. Net asset value (NAV) is value of a fund's assets minus its liabilities. Dividing by the total shares outstanding results in NAV per share. Price-to-earnings ratio (P/E ratio) compares a company's stock price to its earnings per share. Standard deviation is a statistical measure of volatility that captures the degree to which an investment's price has deviated from its average over time.

MSCI EAFE Index (Net) measures the performance of large and midcap equities across developed markets countries around the world excluding the US and Canada. A net-return index tracks price changes and reinvestment of distribution income net of withholding taxes.

Indexes are unmanaged and do not incur management fees or other operating expenses. One cannot invest directly in an index.
